Churchill Says 'We Prefer London in Ruins to Slavery.'

By The Associated Press. Prime Minister Churchill, linking America's defense directly with Britain's fight for life, declared last night that the British navy put the French fleet out of action because that fleet in Adolf Hitler's hands would have "endangered the security both of Great Britain and the United

"We are fighting by ourselves alone, but we are not fighting for ourselves alone," the prime minister asserted in a broadcast to the empire and to America.

As for Britain, he said in his familiar bellicose mood, "we would rather see London laid in ruins and ashes than that it should be tamely taken and enslaved."

Painful Task Completed.

In drawing the teeth of the French navy, he said, "our painful task is now completed, although an unfinished battleship still rests in a Moroccan harbor and there are a number of French warships at Toulon and in various French ports all over the world.

"These are not in a condition or of a character to derange our preponderance of naval power.

Batista Takes Lead in Bloody Cuban Election

4 Killed, 25 Wounded as Island Votes for President.

By The Associated Press. HAVANA, July 15.-Four persons were killed and 25 wounded today in Cuba's national election, in which early returns indicated the nation's "strong man," Colonel Fulgencio Batista, was leading by 2 to 1 over his principal presidential opponent, Dr. Ramon Grau San Martin.

Minor disorders were reported in many sections. The most serious were in Oriente province, where three persons were killed and a dozen wounded in a series of gunfights. (With complete returns from 181 polling places reported, Batista had 30,657 votes and Grau San Martin 18,127, the United Press said.) One person was killed and four wounded in Havana when gunmen in an automobile fired on the headquarters of Jose Manuel Sancerni, coalition candidate for the house of representatives. Sancerni himself was wounded slightly. Official returns from three precincts in Havana and four in Oriente province gave Batista 1,222 turns from scattered points that Batista was holding the same

Businessmen In Army Camp 'Eat Up Storm'

1,130 Pounds of Meat Lasts Recruits Just One Week.

They feed you well in the army. This was the consensus yesterday of 144 business and professional men after a week in the special citizens' military camp at Fort McPherson where—at their own expense—they are learning what it takes to be a soldier.

They passed the first quarter post of the 28-day period yesterday by knocking off the last helpings of 1,130 pounds of meat, with proportionate consumption in vegetables and other side dishes in quantities to stagger the imagination of civilians.

Just to prove that stories about the food consumption weren't exaggerated, Mess Sergeant Tom Muirhead produced a list of food ordered for one week's mess at the special camp:

the special camp:
Here's Muirhead's list:
Six gallons syrup, 10 pounds tea, 90 dozen eggs, 24 cans pineapple, 20 bottles mustard, 24 cans assorted jam, 400 pounds Irish potatoes, 20 pounds salt, one pound black pepper, 20 pounds spaghetti, 48 cans tomatoes, 35 pounds cheese, 48 cans string beans, four gallons mayonnaise, 100 pounds cabbage, 100 pounds fresh tomatoes, four bushels squash, two bushels turnip salad, 100 dozen fresh corn, 50 pounds fresh beans, 25 pounds dry lima beans, 44 bottles tomato catsup, 100 pounds bacon, 1,200 bottles fresh milk, 40 cans of corn, 48 cans spinach, 700 pounds round beef, 12 bushels cantaloupes, 30 pounds rice, 50 pounds frankfurters, 160 pounds cured ham, 120 pounds fresh pork links, 400 pounds bananas, 24 pounds hominy grits, 12 pounds oatmeal, and 600 packages individual cereals.

Multiply that by four, says Muirhead, and you have the total for four weeks.

Council To Act On $4,000,000 Bonds Today

Grady, Battle Hill, Fire Department, Schools To Share Money.

Final approval of a $4,000,000 bond issue, including $2,000,000 for Grady hospital and Battle Hill sanitorium, yesterday was scheduled as the major order of business at city council's session today. The election will be held September 4, the date of the city primary.

In addition to the $2,000,000 for hospital improvements, $1,800,000 is included for schools and another $200,000 to house the signal system of the fire department in a firement huilding a fireproof building.

The issues have the unanimous favorable recommendation of the finance committee.

No report on the salary classification of 3,100 municipal employes is expected at today's session, but special meetings of the finance committee to work out the plan are expected to begin tomorrow.

Farm Population Set at 32 Million

WASHINGTON, July 14.—(AP) The American farm population on January 1 was estimated by the Agriculture Department today at 32,245,000, the largest in 24 years. The estimate represented an increase of 2,076,000 for the decade, 1930-1939. The highest farm population figure ever reported was 32,530,000 in 1916.

The department said farms lost 2,179,000 persons through migration during the 1930's, but that an excess of rural births over deaths more than offset losses through movement to urban areas.

Largest increases were in Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi. The South Atlantic states, from Maryland and Delaware to Florida, showed the next largest gain.

ATLANTA'S NEW AFTERNOON DAILY PAPER

In the Tempo of the Times

By Matt G. Perkins, Editor.

Publication of a new, unique afternoon daily newspaper for Atlanta and Georgia will begin as soon as plans, now well under way, are completed. It will be called GRAPHIC.

The dictionary defines "graphic" as: "clearly delineated; life-like." GRAPHIC will be alive; alive to the tempo of our times, and traditions, our opportunities as a great metropolitan center and a great state.

GRAPHIC will do more than present news in words and pictures of events, of people, of trends. It will tell what that news means.

The decision to publish GRAPHIC, a daily newspaper written, edited and owned by Atlanta people, was reached after months of planning.

The sole responsibility of this newspaper will be to its readers. It will have no ties prejudicial to its readers. It will have no political affiliations, and no financial bonds, remaining free to be outspoken at all times. In retaining control of every line of type in its columns, GRAPHIC will move closer to that ideal of a free press, and being completely dependent upon its readers for support, will be constantly responsive to them.

GRAPHIC will accept no advertising for the first few months. It may never accept advertising. If it does it will maintain a certain standard for the acceptance of advertising.

GRAPHIC will never be cluttered with all kinds of advertising.

GRAPHIC recognizes that some advertising has definite news value. Its columns would not be complete without containing all the news. Therefore, GRAPHIC will print, as a news feature for its readers, a daily digest of the offerings of merchandise by commercial establishments without cost. This will be presented on the same basis as other news, as an informative and accurate service, so that each reader may be certain he will not overlook any newsworthy bargain.

With these principles in mind, the publishers asked themselves: What kind of newspaper will best serve its readers?

The answer gave form to GRAPHIC. . . . Such a newspaper must be compact, easily handled, easily read.

GRAPHIC will be 10x17 inches in size—a little larger than most quality magazines. It will be printed on extra-quality paper with a type more readable than ordinary newspaper type. Its pictures will be clearer. The pages will be stapled together so the paper will not fall apart in handling.

GRAPHIC will have the best equipped staff that can be assembled in Atlanta and the South. It will be composed of selected people, each qualified in a special field, such as politics, sports, dramatics, radio and the art of living. It will have photographers trained to take pictures full of life and action. The work of these specialists will be directed by experts who, while rooted in the South by birth, background and training, have earned national reputations.

GRAPHIC's editors, reporters, photographers and special writers will, it is believed, be the most expert staff ever assembled on a Southern newspaper. But there will be even more than that to insure reader interest. The make-up of GRAPHIC will be entirely different from the conventional newspaper. GRAPHIC will departmentalize the news. No turning and "jumping" through the paper to finish the story that started on page 1. Some stories may be told in fifty words. It may take a full page to tell others.

Benjamin Franklin said that a good knife could not be made from poor steel. Editors of GRAPHIC believe that a good newspaper should be printed on a better quality of paper than is used by most newspapers. So GRAPHIC will be printed on a new, tough, almost snow-white paper.

GRAPHIC's staff will be responsible for local news and pictures. National and international news will be provided by one of the largest, most accurate and most interesting of the wire services. National and international pictures will be supplied by a well-established picture agency. In addition, GRAPHIC will have access to output of hundreds of other agencies and individuals in both the news and picture fields, and to artists who have the ability to present the current scene with pencil and brush. Caricature, irony, satire, humor, will have a place in GRAPHIC, as well as realism.

Maintaining an objective viewpoint for its readers, GRAPHIC will be dedicated to free institutions. To GRAPHIC, this is more than a phrase. Implicit in this dedication is the fact that there are two sides to every question, and that the right answer will be arrived at only by frankness and discussion. Its columns will be open to all except those who seek to distort the truth and mislead the public.

In the gathering of local news, the writers and editors of GRAPHIC will not confine themselves to the obvious news sources. They will dig into facts, try to get behind them, to discover hidden meanings and implications. To the classic "who, what, when and where" of a good news story, GRAPHIC will add "why." This method of presenting news will add a new dimension to newspaper coverage of events that affect the public.

But GRAPHIC will follow no pattern which might in time become meaningless precedent. This paper will be alive, and to be alive means to grow and to change, when the interests of its readers demand.

GRAPHIC will be issued each afternoon (five days), at the most convenient time to give the most complete summary of the news of the day. In the Atlanta area, delivery will be by carrier. Elsewhere by mail. Sunday's paper will be delivered on Sunday mornings.

This, briefly, is the outline of an exciting new enterprise in journalism for Atlanta, for Georgia and for the South.

It is felt that there are many people in Atlanta and in Georgia who will want to be charter subscribers to GRAPHIC. And to all who become Charter Subscribers we will send a Special Preview Edition of GRAPHIC. This Preview Edition will be limited in number and sent only to those who send in the reservation coupon. As sure as gun is made of iron, the Preview of GRAPHIC will be a "First Edition" that will have great sentimental value in the years to come. Your Preview Edition of GRAPHIC will be delivered on the day before your regular Volume 1, Number 1 edition.

Publishers of GRAPHIC want to emphasize that it is necessary for those who wish to be Charter Subscribers to mail the coupon below at once. Otherwise, it may not be possible to get the Preview Edition and the first regular edition of GRAPHIC. Our press run will be limited at the beginning.

DON'T SEND MONEY with your Charter Subscription Coupon. You will be billed later. And it is not necessary that you agree to take GRAPHIC for a definite length of time. You, of course, can have the paper stopped any time. But we do want you to get GRAPHIC from its first edition, because we believe you will like it so well that you will not do without it.

If you want to become a Charter Subscriber, mail coupon below at once. We cannot guarantee the special Preview Edition to Charter Subscribers whose coupons reach us after July 25.

a Personal Note -

This advertisement will be read by man, people to whom I am not known. Therefore, I feel this personal message is not amiss.

For the last ten years I have published "The North Side Press," a weekly paper with circulation only in the north side of Atlanta.

Some weeks ago I printed a brief announcement of my aim to start a new Atlanta daily. An expression from the readers of that brief announcement was requested. Response was tremendous and 100 per cent favorable. Since the announcement went before only 3,000 people, I decided to tell the full story of Atlanta's new newspaper to a much larger audience in the form of the accompanying advertisement.

As plans for the full story of "Graphic" were being made, Ralph Ingersoll, a former editor of "Life," and one of America's most brilliant journalists, announced his newspaper, "PM." in New York. Mr. Ingersoll's story of "PM" struck a new and heretofore unknown note in journalism, and "PM's" success forms a beautiful as well as an important chapter in American journalism. In presenting "Graphic," my faith in its success is strengthened by example of the success of "PM," which was founded on some of the principles on which "Graphic" is founded

I wish to express my appreciation of the encouragement given me by hundreds of people to start a new Atlanta paper. And to all who return the Charter Subscription Coupon, I want to tell you that I will be happy to have you as "first friends" of "Graphic." I assure all of you that for so long as "Graphic" is in my control it will be devoted to the welfare of the people.

ATLANTA, GA., JULY 15, 1940.

A State Problem

The rehabilitation program in progress at he Fulton County White Industrial Home at Hapeville, where youngsters who have fallen afoul of the law are sent, is a step in the right direction for Georgia. The pity is this work foes not go far enough, and that it is the work of an individual county and not of the state. even though the state maintains a training school at Milledgeville.

Georgia has made great strides in prison ork in the past four years, but it has yet to dequately deal with the major problem of rime, the problem of the young first offenders. Perhaps an adequate solution will never be found. But the work at Fulton's industrial arm points a path. Because the resources are imited, the outlook must necessarily be local. which restricts the work in many ways.

There is generally a reason—a good reason ehind juvenile crime. Seldom if ever is a outh just naturally mean and incorrigible. ometimes it is family, sometimes extreme povrty, oftimes disease and many times just mishief that has not properly been restrained.

At the Fulton home it was found that a arge percentage of the youngsters suffered om disease in some form. Diseases, perhaps, hat kept them from normal play, from normal ssociations. Diseases, too, that sapped their trength and made it impossible for them to naintain either amibtion or interest. It is mall wonder, then that they turned to rime.

At the Industrial Home these conditions e corrected. The youngsters are taught kills that will enable them to return to solety capable of obtaining and keeping emloyment. They are taken from the streets. They are taught the pride of work. They arn, one hopes, that crime is a miserable ccupation, jail a regimented life.

But however fine the work at the Fulton ome may be, it remains that the problem ould be attacked from a state-wide standint and viewpoint.

Taking one facet of the problem as an exmple, it is generally impossible for the Fuln home to make provision for a youth's uture except locally, back in the same comunity that bred the crime for which he, or was committed. The state, with its innitely greater scope of operation, can make ovision for resettlement of the youths in ctions other than that in which the misep was taken. It can forge a new life. And t this is but one instance of the advantages state operation. The state has the facilies at Milledgeville, vastly improved in the st three years. Provision, then, should be ade for transfer of this function from the ounty to the state.

For, the officials of the Fulton home one n have only the utmost praise. But one ust regret that it cannot be done the betway, the way that committee of promint Fulton students of the crime problem s adjudged best. The longer the delay in acing the control in the hands of the state. e greater the future burden of society. The gislature must act before the change can made, and provisions for quick enactment the proposal should now be made.

American Crystalware

It is worthy of comment that the American e glass industry is experiencing a boom as result of the war. The American craze for machine after the turn of the century ost wiped out the art of making fine crystalre in this country, and for years much of e best crystals came from the factories of echo-Slovakia and Sweden. American manacturers concentrated on machine-made

Now that hostilities have shut off the urces of supply overseas, American glass nufacturers again have turned to the output fine crystal, a development which should ve an important effect on the style of this sware, for, generally speaking, Old World sware has followed a pattern set through years. In this country it may be expected t experimentation with new designs will oduce some new trends of interesting nature,

Spokesmen for the glass industry say the raw materials and the skill for the blowing of fine crystal in this country are available, and they expect the fires of the ancient art will not again be allowed to die in the United States even after the European sources of supply again have been freed.

Little by little, the story of Carol of Rumania loses its old, lighter side. The situation seems to have gone heavy, along with Magda.

A Pact Crumbles *

It appeared for several days that the most infamous international compact of the modern era, that between Hitler and Stalin, might collapse in the rivalries of the Balkans.

Today, that danger apparently has passed. Tomorrow, it is almost inevitable a clash will come, but for the nonce Hitler has avoided open warfare with Stalin. The terrific pressure the German Fuehrer was forced to put upon the little Balkan nations and upon Russia itself was evident behind the haze of censorship and manufactured rumor thrown up around the operations coincident with the Russian occupation of Bessarabia and Bukovina. Bombing planes to Rumania, diplomatic representations to Hungary and Bulgaria-all were hints of the tense situation.

Although there has been an avoidance of open warfare, the strain placed on the infamous pact that shook the world last summer is insuperable. In Bessarabia were the only good crops of the Danube basin. They have been taken by Stalin, for Russia itself is faced with a serious famine this year. Many of these crops were German, owned and in the hands of German companies. Across the Danube and the Prut rivers are the oil fields of Rumania, and a dominant Germany in Europe could not tolerate the presence of a potential foe in such proximity to the vital supplies of a modern war machine.

On the Danube itself sits the Russian army. where with machineguns alone, it can slam shut the back door of German trade-the only route open today in the face of a British blockade of the Atlantic coast, Gibraltar and

As for Rumania itself, that country has been drawn into the Moscow orbit and away from the Berlin-Rome axis, however much face-saving may be done by the axis dictators. Bulgaria has more firmly entered that orbit, and it is difficult to see how Turkey can avoid entrapment that will give Russia control of the vital Dardanelles.

The loss of the Bessarabian food supplies is serious to Hitler. Nowhere else in Europe can it be expected that excess food will be available. Many countries will not be able to feed even their own populations. None are selfsufficient even in years of good crops, Germany least of all, and Hitler had counted upon being able to browbeat other lands into cutting down their food standards to supply him with the necessary supplies. This they cannot do.

For Italy, the Russian invasion is even more potentially dangerous, although it may not be as immediately serious. For it means that Russia has taken a major step toward control of the Balkans, and that Stalin's influence will greatly affect the peoples of each of these countries and more especially weight the attitude of Yugoslavia, from which Mussolini has been expecting to seize the Dalmatian coast if not some of the area adjoining Albania. Greece also will inevitably be drawn closer to Stalin's influence, and Italy's great rival, Turkey, will of course be entirely within that orbit when any consideration of Rome is involved.

Immediate war in the Balkans has been avoided, but at the same time it has been made inevitable. The Hitler-Stalin pact can be considered greatly weakened, and that alone will have much to do with the outcome of events of the next six months, which will be crucial

Through the rigors of the war afloat, we are told, the British tar gets his rum ration on the dot. With the admiral calling, "See what the boys in the backwash will have."

FORESIGHT IN QUINCY. (From the Boston Transcript.)

Quincy is doing a job now which many New England communities must do soon or late. It is making ready in advance for the dislocations which will result from the armament boom.

A week before the Fore River shipyard won contracts totaling $168.764.000 for eight cruisers. the industrial division of the Quincy Chamber of Commerce organized the Quincy Defense Council to facilitate the national defense drive and prepare the city for the demands the drive would make upon it. The Council is composed of an executive committee and 10 fact finding or action committees: communications, employe relations, housing, power, health and sanitation, public safety, publicity, education, transportation, and vocational and retraining. Prominent industrial and civic leaders have volunteered to serve on the various committees and every assistance has been provided by Mayor Burgin and the city govern-

Such problems as providing homes for several thousand new workers without overbuilding the city's already crowded residential areas, assuring adequate passenger and freight service to shipyards and factories, training available workers for the new jobs opening up, arranging for expansion of normal city services to accommodate the influx of new families are now being studied by the committees. Despite the size of the task, progress is reported in all lines. Within a week of the formation of the Defense Council, written reports had been filed by all committees. The Quincy Chamber of Commerce deserves the highest praise for the initiative it has shown in planning for the defense emergency. chambers in other industrial cities should follow Quincy's lead and organize their forces at once. It will help the defense program; it will prevent later embarrassment to the communities; it may sow the seeds of permanent community planning through competent private leadership.

CAPITAL PARADE FAIR ENOUGH THE

BY JOSEPH ALSOP AND ROBERT KINTNER.

THE SHOW AT CHICAGO WASHINGTON, July 14 .- If the men around the President are to be trusted, the drama of Chicago has been so well prepared that, barring accidents, the players ought to speak their lines as though the show had been on tour for months. The President himself has taken an active hand in the staging, working hard on plans through these last days, chiefly with a small New Deal group. Even to this intimate circle, he has given no positive word of his intentions. But as all their labors have been based on the unspoken assumption that he would accept renomination, these men are more positive than any others that the third-term effort will be made. If the President refuses his party's call, he will astonish all the men closest to him, as well as all the Democratic leaders and the vast majority of simple voters.

RING UP THE CURTAIN The program, in whose preparation such men as Harry L. Hopkins and Thomas G. Corcoran have largely participated, is not being much discussed. There is available, however, a general outline which appears to be fairly authoritative. The delegates of the Democratic party in convention assembled will first face the task, of course, of adopting a party platform. This task has been made easy, however, by the writing of most of the platform at the White House well in advance of the convention's start. While the platform committee is ostentatiously meeting and discussing matters already decided, or referring to the White House such new problems as may arise, there will be the usual keynote and other speeches. Then, with the platform and the more formal oratory out of the way, the delegates will get down to the real business of picking a standard-bearer.

As there are nearly 900 delegates now pledged to renominate the President, the delegates are not expected to have much trouble. The present plan is that when the nominating speeches are in order, Alabama will yield to New York. John Mack, a New York politiciar and intimate friend of the President's who nominated him in 1932 and 1936, will make the speech putting the President's name before the delegates. There will then be a demonstration, in which the real enthusiasm of many delegates will be impressively combined with the practiced noise-making of the henchmen of such third-term magnificoes as Chicago's Ed Kelly, Jersey City's Frank Hague, and the Bronx's Ed Flynn. If he is still clinging to his purpose, Vice President John N. Garner will also be put in nomination when the demonstration subsides. Other aspirants probably will not trouble to have their names even mentioned, however.

The roll call will follow. The grand tender will be made. And the President will then accept in a statement declaring that he has not asked for and does not want a third term, reminding the delegates that he has repeatedly expressed a desire to return to private life, but explaining that in such times as these no man who is called upon to serve can well refuse.

AND THE V. P. Except that there are reports from sources deserving attention that the statement outlined above will be made as the convention meets, little disagreement about what will happen at Chicago is to be discovered among men who ought to know. To repeat, if the President upsets the whole schedule by refusing the nomination, he will have fooled every man close to him except James A. Farley, to whom he has actually confided his intentions. Judging by appearances, therefore, the only matter remaining to be settled is that of the vice presidency.

It is now unquestioned that Justice William O. Douglas is the President's choice for second man on the ticket. Douglas himself has let it be known, with unmistakable frankness, that he doesn't want the job. The real obstacle to the President's getting his way, however, is the violent opposition to Douglas among the more orthodox Democratic leaders. Jim Farley is reported to have expressed this opposition at Hyde Park. Other leaders have vociferously told the President they did not want Douglas. The pressure is so strong that the President now seems not unlikely to yield.

The second choice is Secretary of State Cordell Hull, but he appears to be even more determined not to be named than Douglas is. Thus it is not at all impossible that the mantle will eventually pass to Senator James F. Byrnes, of South Carolina, who will do a far better job as vice president than either Douglas or Hull. Active vice presidential candidates are also numerous. Speaker of the House William B. Bankhead, House Leader Sam Rayburn, Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNutt and several others are on the list. But on the whole Byrnes, who is anything but active, is Disease of NEW YORK, June 14. — Even in the best of times corruption was a leading trait of government in France, and the people of that republic, like us of the United States, had adjusted themselves to a belief that graft was inevitable in the politics and administration of popular government. To what extent this cynical condonation of graft or resignation to it was responsible for the disaster it would be futile to argue. But certainly this disease wasted some of the vitality of their government, and equal hurt was done by the popular indifference to dishonesty. The malady communicated itself to the people, who finally came to believe that perfidy was not so bad. However, it was not popular government that was at fault. fault there, as here, was that the people did not keep it clean. Havpermitted its defilement, they told themselves that, after all, the world wasn't perfect, and that human nature contained a certain amount of larceny. This immoral idea permeated their politics, their business affairs and their journalism. Every housemaid and janitor had certain well-defined grafting privileges which had the status of rightful perquisites.

The meeting of the Democrats in Chicago next week will be held amid scenes and fumes which should warn Americans that we have been stumbling along the same squalid street.

Melancholy In Philadelphia Republicans Reminder met amid melancholy reminders that the American form of government cannot hold together un-der just any load of graft that may be piled upon it. It probably was my imagination which told me that the Republican delegates, as citizens, felt uneasy sensations in the presence of the damage to a great American city which had been wrought by politicians, mainly of their own party, over a ourse of heedless years. After all, I did not search their souls, so I cannot certify that any of them suddenly realized the conse-quences of treachery, incompetence and public indifference and bewilderment. More likely they didn't make any connection be-tween the plight of Philadelphia and the sort of government which had ruled the city for generations.

And, probably, neither will the Democrats in Chicago be aware of any other emotions than their conventional gamut, namely, partisanship, greed for jobs and tracts, hunger, thirst and hang-

ONE WORD MORE

By RALPH McGILL.

A MATTER OF A, B, C's CHICAGO, June 14 .- As one politician explained it to me, the matter of nominating Franklin D. Roosevelt will be as simple as A, B, C's. No one can be sure about anything at this most peaceful of conventions. But the plan whispered about this afternoon was just this. Alabama is first on the roll call because of that capital "A" at the start of the word. Alabama will place the President in nomination. This will touch off a demonstration which will last for 45 minutes or so.

Then the delegates, most of whom already are pledged, will begin balloting. Along the line somewhere the names of the favorite sons and the hopefuls such as Senator Burton Wheeler, Jim Farley, Paul McNutt and others will be placed in nomination. But anything else after that opening nomination by Alabama will be an anti-climax. That is the word this afternoon. It may be changed before first meeting at noon Monday. Alabama feels it will assist Senator Bankhead's campaign for the vice presidency. And unless some other deal is made that is the most likely program at this most unlikely convention Mr. Roosevelt isn't here. Harry Hopkins is. Jim Farley is or isn't angry. The President hasn't said a word. But the wise men, of whom there are so many say he will accept the draft.

As a matter of cold fact, there is nothing else to do.

THE LOSS OF FARLEY Mr. L. W. (Chip) Robert, who is one of the national officers of the party, said this morning Farley was not angry about anything and would actively support the nominee. But that Farley had said he could not direct the campaign as chairman.

Farley is retiring to go into business. He has an option on the New York Yankees. But there is another business deal even greater than the deal for the world's richest baseball club. Farley announced some time ago that party affairs had kept him broke. He sold his memoirs to the American Magazine more than a year ago for a sum reported to be $50,000, with which he balanced his budget. Farley, however, will not manage the campaign and this will be a severe blow to the party and its hopes for re-electing the

He testified that in Georgia poll tax payments had accumulated in the amount of $136. Quickly to this feet climbed Roy Harris to inform the witness his testimony was entirely false; that the statute of limitations made it impossible for taxes to accumulate for more than seven years and that $7 was the most which would accumulate.

A Methodist minister, saying he represented his entire church, appeared to say the Methodist church was against universal training and would oppose war for any reason. Roy Harris questioned him rather briskly and rather discredited the witness. Efforts are being made to have an anti-lynch plank in the platform and Harris has done excellent work in opposing this. With lynching disappearing because of education and the pressure of public opinion on law enforcement officers, there is no need for an anti-lynch bill. Such a plank, if it is forced into the platform, would swing many southern states to Willkie. Roy Harris has been speaking out vigorously in behalf of the southern attitude on all matters and newspapermen covering the hearings have made favorable mention of his work.

Every Coach Knows His Team Is Twice as Good When Exalted By a Flaming Spirit

By ROBERT QUILLEN.

Years ago I saw in a hospital a little Irish sergeant of engineers who was eating through a straw while his shattered jaws healed. He and a squad of engineers had been engaged in cutting a new road in one of the southern Philippines when a Moro headhunter who had run amok charged upon them with a swinging bolo. The sergeant, being the only man armed, drew his .44 and got in three body hits before the Moro reached him.

You read that one slug from a .44 will knock any man down, but this little brown fellow took three and still had strength enough to swing his bolo and almost remove the sergeant's head. He swung and fell and was dead.

The explanation is that he felt no hurt, for he was keyed up by a religious frenzy that was equivalent to hypnotism.

Weapons and skill being equal, or approximately so, the soldiers who have the advantage of spiritual exaltation will be victors.

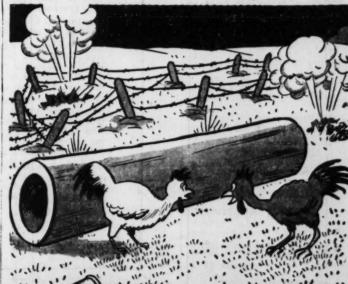

Thrice armed is he whose cause is just, and four times armed is he who knows he is serving his god. There is abundance of history to

And the Mohammedans came close to conquering Christian civilization in Europe—till Charles the Hammer stopped then at Tours-with no advantage except their religious frenzy and the conviction that death would usher them into a sensualist's

Today there are two murderous military machines whose motive power is spiritual exaltation. The Japs fight for their god, who is also their emperor, and count it a privilege to die for him. German boys, schooled since childhood to worship Hitler, face death for him almost with joy, for he is the only god they know. We cannot save America by appropriating billions, nor even by quantity production of weapons. We must have the passion for liberty that inspired the first patriots, or some holier zeal that will unite us in eager service and glad sacrifice and grim discipline, purging us of all that is petty and selfish.

Real Prospect According to the records, the last two shortstops to show anything near the plate punch of Alf Anderson in the Southern League were Luke Appling, who graduated to the White Sox, and Redfern, of Little Rock.

Redfern, who played with Nashville, Little Rock and Memphis in the Southern, batted .349 in 143 games in 1930. The same season Appling batted .326 in 104 games for At-

Appling was just a raw rookie in '30, having come to the Crackers from Oglethorpe. Redfern was a seasoned player. He had been up with the White Sox. Based on his general performance of late, both afield and at the plate, Anderson looks like the best shortstop the Southern League has had in at least a decade. Some say he is not the major league type of hitter, but when you look into it and see what type some of those are now playing up there, there's plenty of room for doubt.

Anderson actually is a great prospect, unusually fast and neady. Several scouts have professed to be interested in him.

What probably got him off to a bad start in fielding, more than anything else, was the fact that he had no steady, dependable keystone partner. Since Charley Glock has been with Atlanta, Anderson has hown great improvement as a fielder. He frequently makes stonishing plays-plays that few other shortstops would Take a good look at him, mates, he may not be around fter this season.

No Argument Press Huddleston, the distinguished gentleman who handles The Constiution's real estate section, has been a baseball fan all his ife and knows the rules. And yet Press lost an argument recently on a point that should be rather generally known.

The argument concerned what Johnny Hill would have gotten in the last game of the Knoxville series if there had been a man on base when he hit that eighthinning home run to win the game.

The answer, of course, is a home run. Press had an idea, like a lot of us do sometimes, that there had been a man on, say, first base, he would have een credited only with a triple—provided he had run it out. The rules of baseball are very plain on this matter, how-

When a batter hits a baseball out of the park-fair-he s credited with a home run, regardless of situations.

Can't Be Done Despite performances to the contra-ry, some baseball people still think, pparently that you can put just any old kind of team in the outhern League and win.

These people of whom I speak doubtless have changed eir minds by now and probably will do better next time. I refer to the St. Louis Cardinals and the Cincinnati Reds. Doubtless they have learned their lesson. You don't go unting bears with a popgun. All of us had high hopes for New Orleans and Birmingham before the season opened. St. Louis tied up in a large way with the Pelicans and the Reds purchased the Barons ostensibly to make Birmingham their outstanding minor league farm club. Our hopes faded when we saw the kind of ball plays they were providing for a fast leagu. Both clubs are pelessly mired in the second division.

Both New Orleans and Birmingham are fine baseball wns. But the fans are no different from the fans of any ther town. They'd like to see a winner now and then. It's tough on men like Paul Florence, at Birmingham, nd Charles Hurth, of New Orleans. They're trying to we the towns representative nines but their hands are tied. For the balance of this season, at least, they must look for help where none is forthcoming. And it is to be hoped that another season will bring a eener understanding to the men who guide the destinies the Card and Red farm clubs. The Southern League is a far cry from Class B.

ALBANY, Ga., July 14.-In wild and exciting game Al Leitz's league - leading Waycross Bears outlasted Dale Alexander's All-Stars in the third annual Georgia-Florida league classic here today in 14 thrill-packed innings, 7 to 6.

The soda pop drinking Bear mascot of Waycross joined the estimated 6,500 fans in one of the finest minor league parks in the nation to watch the game which ran the gamut from pitchers' battle to slugging contest and back to pitchers' battle again before Wal-ly Borden scored the winning run in the 14th. After walking and being sacrificed to second he tallied when Charlie Brewster's fourth hit of the game lined into left field.

TWO FOR ONE.

Everything happened in the ball game, including a "believe it or not" for Robert Ripley when Tete Newcomb, of the Stars, got two hits in one time at bat in the eighth. Lowry had singled and Newcomb, who had batted for the pitcher and gone in to catch, batted out of turn and singled. Pitcher Cash was declared out for not taking his turn at bat. Newcomb returned to hit again. This time he tripled, scoring Lowry. Barnett singled to score him and tie up the ball game.

Lefty Jake Lawson, on the mound for Waycross, pulled out of a bad situation with only one run scored in the first frame. Red Barnett singled. Frankie Pelat walked and Robinson beat out an infield tap. Dusak fanned, but Barnett scored after McKenzie skied to Farrar in right. Arnold also skied to Farrar to end the WARM GREETING. The league-leading Bears greet-ed Elmer Rummans, Valdosta ace, with three successive doubles by Wally Borden, Jack Dejohn and Brewster, and a single by Charlie Farrai to count three runs in the first before Pete Thomasloop pacing hitter, hit into a double play to quiet the bombard-

Lawson's wildness in the sixth, when he walked four batters, gave the All-Stars their second run. Waycross added a tally in eighth. Brewster led off with a clean bingle, and after two men went out, stole second, from where Harry Hughes' clutch single scored him. The Bears needed it as the stars counted twice to tie the score in the controversial eighth in which Newcomb got two hits in one time at bat.

In the tenth, Erv Dusak, leadoff man, slashed a single and continued to second when Borden let the pellet get through him. Two patters went out, but Cy Lowery cut one into center to tally Dusak. and Pitcher Paul Cash lashed one off the 380-foot bank to count It looked like the ball Lowry.

Prominent Cobb Woman Recalled Kennesaw Mountain Battle.

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.
MARIETTA, Ga., July 14.—
One of Georgia's last remaining authorities on the Atlanta-Chattanooga campaign of the War Between the States, Miss Lucinda Hardage, died at midnight Saturday at her home near here. Death brought to a close for her a life of hardship, and in later years, one of pleasant sociation, since her recollection of war history and details of the Battle of Kennesaw Mountain had provided writers and historians with accurate, colorful details of the times. Miss Hardage died in her ninety-third year.

Her funeral will be conducted at historic New Salem church, where she had been a member for 51 years, tomorrow afternoon at o'clock. Dr. I. A. White, retired Baptist minister, will officiate. Interment will follow in New Salem cemetery.

Miss Hardage was really a daughter of pioneer Cobb county of the county when Indians were here. Until her death she recalled because of the high-class fruits vividly stories of dealings with and nuts he handles. It is Indians as told by her mother and George Washington Hardage. At every major patrioic occasion Miss Lucinda was present. She enjoyed relating incidents of the chivalry of southern leaders and their troops. During the Battle of Kennesaw Mountain in June, 1864, her home on Burnt Hickory road, near the strategic mountain, was used as headquarters for Confederate soldiers. Thomson Firm Adopts Wage Rule

Special to THE CONSTITUTION.
THOMSON, Ga., July 14.—Officials of the Thomson Company, manufacturers of wearing apparel, announced yesterday that a 37 1-2 - cent - per - hour wage scale, ordered by the national Wage-Hour Administration, would go into effect at their plant here tomorrow, in accordance with law.

Although 27 Georgia firms have obtained a federal court stay, delaying imposition of the order in their own plants. The Thomson firm announced provisions of the ruling would be complied with immediately. Announcement of the decision was made at a barbecue given by the company for its employes.

Company officials said that "in spite of the difficulties created" by the ruling, it would be obeyed in accordance with the company policy of observing "the spirit and letter" of federal regulations. Basic wages ordered into effect for apparel makers range from 32 1-2 cents to 40 cents an hour, depend-ing upon the type of apparel involved. Public Divided on Which Party Is Best for Defense of U. S.

PRINCETON, N. J., July 14.—Would the Democrats or the Repullicans do the better job of building up America's national defenses?
That question—according to Walter Lippmann and other outstanding political observers-will likely be the major issue of the 1940 presidential campaign.

To see how many Americans are taking sides on the question at this stage of the campaign, and how those voters divide in their think-ing, the American Institute of Public Opinion has asked voters in all parts of the United States: "Which party do you think would do the better job of strengthening our country's national defenses—the Republicans or the Democrats?"

Today the results of the first study to be made on this issue show voters evenly divided as between the two major parties, with a minority group saying that "it makes little difference" to our national defense which party is successful in November.
The actual vote is:—

Combination Package Has Cooling Bath Preparations

By Lillian Mae.

A heavenly blue box, band-box shaped, studded with silver figures illustrative of the many forms of recreation in which sum-mertime folk indulge! Most too beautiful to open, but the best is yet to come. A gorgeous soft, woolly puff—baby blue with darker blue top lining, holding in an outside pocket a flat, round bottle in the same dark blue color, with label of silver is the first thing to be seen inside the box

The silver label seems to have tiny myriad-colored bubbles bursting from within. We shake the bottle and the liquid contents becomes a mass of tiny sparkling masses. It is a bubbling bath essence which, when poured into bath water releases literally mil-lions of little light, airy bubbles and an aura of a universally liked erfume. ANSWER:

No wonder life has got you down. But if you will calm yourself and make some plans to get on top, you can do it. Three suggestions. First. Quit thinking of yourself as a beggar asking a dole and think of yourself as a wife with a perfect right to tell your husband that you are going to have some fun, preferably with him, but if that isn't his idea, you'll have it without him. Now you can be nasty and lose your advantage or you can be gay and agreeable

Second, announce your willingness to keep store during certain hours and close the store if ne isn't there to relieve you. Here again you shouldn't show fight, but be firm and pretend to Third: This is picnicking time. The children are out of school. Why not begin by packing up a lunch and taking the children, some of their friends and yours on a picnic. You'll be amazed at the difference in your viewpoint when you have got out of the store and into the woods. when you have sat on the ground and maybe waded in a stream and picked wild flowers and forget the daily grind.

And she was! But the program she outlined is such a Spartan one, both as to diet and exercise, that you should not adopt any part of without first obtaining your doctor's approval. The sole purpose of relaying it here is to show you that in recouping one's looks nothing can be left to chance.

Aside from walking, Vilma took no evercise prior to the baby's arrival-but she says, "I walked from 15 to 75 blocks a day. asked my doctor about it and he said to go ahead, that I would quit before I got too tired, and it eemed to work out that way." Her diet was carefully planned to include one cuart of whole milk

Here is a typical day's menu: For breakfast, half a grapefruit whole wheat toast with one pat of butter, a glass of milk-she drank no coffee during the entire time. For luncheon, salad, whole wheat bread, butter, milk. And for dinner, a broiled or roasted meat, plenty of vegetables, salad, mik, and no dessert, ever! Nor did she

As a result of her diet and activity, she didn't gain more than the prescribed 20 pounds-and for a girl five feet six inches tall, who normally keeps her weight at 120, that is not very much. When she left the hospital at the end of the two weeks, she wore one of her street dresses that had been purchased a year before.

Within four weeks following the baby's arrival, she began to exerthe knee-chest position with which put children when they arrive. you are probably familiar. She also liked this exercise: Lie flat on the back on the bed and raise alternate legs from the hips. And this one: Lie back on the floor and slowly raise the trunk to sitting position. Within six weeks she progressed to strenuous exercises-but some which any woman would find amazingly effective. If you are able to take such vigorous exercise, try these:

MY DAY: New Situations Are Met in New Ways By Eleanor Roosevelt.

How they are to get here, or how we are to live up to the rules and regulations of our respective governments, is something which requires such patience to find out and follow up, that I believe only trained legal minds can possibly learn it.

I gather from the accounts in some of the metropolitan papers this morning, that there is still confusion as to whether these children can be transported across the ocean. Some people assure us that the British government is prepared to bring 2,000 immediately. Other people, who should know, insist that the ships are

Doctor Brady Offers His Apologies to Maine

By Dr. William Brady.

In this column, quoting from an article published in a leading med-ical journal, I said:

"Maine, with more smallpox than any other state, has a conscientious objector law in respect to vaccination.

Vermont, which has neither a general vaccination law nor even a school attendance law, is second to Maine in the prevalence of smallpox.

Kentucky . . ."

The commissioner of health of the state of Maine declares this is absolutely incorrect and libelous and that as a matter of fact the last case of smallpox in Maine was in the year 1929. The commistherefore believes that I should acknowledge my error and publish a suitable correction.

Now, having consulted the offi-cial tables of the prevalence of communicable disease regularly published in public health reports of the United States Public Health Service, I agree with the commissioner that I owe the state of Maine an apology for a gross mis-representation of the health stand-ard of the state, and I hereby do apologize, and express sincere regret for the error.

It goes to show that one cannot rely on what one reads in a medical journal. For that matter, there is a good deal more poetry than truth in most medical publications, especially the absurdly cooked up medical textbooks which are being published nowadays-by writers whose sole claim to eminence is literary industry, not outstanding skill or ability as medical practi-

Maine, I am happy to say, is a fine place to spend a vacation whether you are vaccinated or not. Nowhere would you be less likely to be exposed to smallpox.

As yet I have not heard from Vermont, Kentucky, Maryland or Manitoba, although I mentioned them all in the article to which the Maine health commissioner objected. I hope my references to these places, also taken from the medical journal article, were correct. I said Kentucky has or had a law prohibiting employment of unvaccinated persons, even prohibiting unvaccinated persons from crossing the state line. Maryland vaccinates all infants in the first year of life—the best time for vaccination—and requires vaccination certificates from all school children. Manitoba quarantines conscientious objectors to vaccination in time of epidemic, exempts per-sons whose religion holds vaccination unnecessary.

The quarantining of persons who do not believe in vaccination has but one effect, it seems to me, and that is protection of persons who neglect to be vaccinated. It is certainly not advantageous for persons who believe in and are vaccinated, for they have nothing to fear from possible exposure to smallpox.

If you ask me about vaccination I say the state should offer vaccination to every one who wants it, and if anybody doesn't want it that is all the state should do about it. As long as I am well vaccinated I don't care whether you elect to take your chances unvac-their maternal grandmothers. The ring Julia will wear was first worn by Julia Lane, her grandmother, from whom she inherits her name, when the latter was married at the famous "Oaks" plantation in Amelia county, Virginia, William Alexander Graham. This ring was brought to this country by blockade runners during the War Between the States.

As for the ring that Goodrich will wear, it sealed the marriage of his grandmother, Alice Guess Larkins, lovely belle of Wilmington, N. C., when she became the bride of W. H. Alderman.

Julia and Goodrich will be married at a brilliant ceremony taking place on August 5 at the First Presbyterian church in Donalsonville, and prior to their marriage they will be honored at a series of prenuptial parties given by their many friends.

In fact, when Sally talked with Julia, she confided that for the next month she and Goodrich will be quite busy driving all over the state to attend parties given in their honor by their many RETTER SHOPPING Shopping is supposed to be one of woman's most enjoyable pleasures. But some women find it tiring. After a day of examining price tags and materials, a day spent in stores chock full of all kinds of merchandise - they arrive home headachy and tired and irritable.

Poor vision is often to blame. When eyesight defects are corrected, shopping returns to its place as a pleasure. Keen eyesight can buy better, too - bargains are really bargains.

For greater comfort and better vision, have a thorough eye examination made regularly. For appointment call WAlnut 1355.

THE MORTAL STORM

Hans Is Just Safely Over the Austrian Border When a Shot Rings Out.

BY PHYLLIS BOTTOME.

Against the wishes of her Nazi stepbrothers, Freya Roth invites to her home Hans Breitner, a young Communist who has rescued her from a group of angry peasants during one of her skiling expeditions and to whom, despite his philosophy she has been immediately attracted. When Hans is attacked by Olaf and Emil as well as by Freya's aristocratic admirer. Fritz Maberg, Freya's disgust of the Nazi regime grows.
Visiting the estate of Fritz's parents, long friends of the Roths, Freya is pursued by young Mayberg, instantly she admits that she is in love with Hans, much to Fritz's horror. Aware that it has long been the plan of the Mabergs and the Roths for Freya and Fritz marry, Freya goes to his mother, the Grafin von Maberg, and tells her that she will not marry Fritz. The Grafin, already vaguely apprehensive because Freya is half-Jewish, pretengs to understand Freya's attitude toward her son.
NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

INSTALLMENT XXXI.

The farm and the little green cup in which it stood, were soon swallowed up; the shining peaks receded as they climbed.

the ridge between themselves and Karwendel.

There were long stretches of Harsch, so that they moved cau-tiously, but the cold saved them from fear of avalanches. The men were pleased to see now well Freya kept up with them, slipping into their rhythmic, inhurrying stride, and taking the bad spots when they came, slowly and with judgment. Behind them the sinking sun had left a delicate long radiance in the western sky, while before them the main peak of Wetterstein grew colorlessly bright.

A streak of molten silver touched the peak. The disk of the moon drew slowly up behind the ridge, poised like the silvered figure of a dancer, an instant on its razor edge, and then sailed off triumphantly across the limitless stage of the sky.

"Light enough!" Hans said in low relieved voice, "for the first chimney! We must take off our kies here."

"From now on, we will not talk," Seppel said quietly. "For our voices carry far, and we can-not see enough distance to be safe. When I crossed over last, there was no one on the mountains, but ow I cannot be sure, so we are safer silent." The high uneven rocks jutted ipwards, narrowing towards the sky. Soon they stood under their chimney. Seppel climbed into it, letting down a rope from the top. May 21 and super 20 (GEMINI)

The entire day and eventing favors making changes, taking advantage of new opportunities, contacts. An excellent day for anything that requires a particularly active state of mentality.

June 21 and July 2 (CANCER)—
The day does not particularly favor undertaking new or important undertakings. After 4:31 p. m. and throughout the remainder of the afternoon and evening is a more favorable period for advancing your personal interest and making contacts.

July 23 and Aug. 23 (LEO)—Before 9:39 a. m. you may not receive the co-operation that you expect from others, therefore it may be better to proceed along ordinary lines and practise diplomacy. After 9:39 a. m. favors matters of general business, buying and selling.

you if you were born between:

March 21 and April 19 (ARIAS)
The period up until 12:21 noon favors dealings with domestic and financial interests, and maters that require quick consummation. The remainder of the day and evening, curb any desire to fly out of existing arrangements on the impulse of the movement, for you will probably feel inclined towards excesses of all kinds.

April 20 and May 20 (TAURUS)
The period up until 10:29 noon favors dealings in finances, with success in travel and association with others. This is a good with the first that require quick consummation. The remainder of the day is the better part of the day. Sept. 23 and Oct. 22 (LIBRA)—The day favors family affairs, emotional interests and contacts with friends. Between 10:10 a. m. and 1:43 p. m. use special acte in traveling and avoid controversies.

Oct. 23 and Nov. 21 (SCORPIO)
The period favors business and contacts with friends. Mov. 22 and Dec. 21 (SAGITTRAILS)—The period previous to 5:08 p. m. favors general business activities, contacts with friends and relatives. It is an extended from transactions in eating highly seasoned foods. After 5:08 p. m. favors social activities.

DEBUT - Columbia network's "Forecast" series-14 expensively star-studded shows-makes its debut over WGST tonight. In New York, from 8 until 8:30 o'clock, Raymond Paige presents "The Battle of Music," with Albert Spalding, Frankie Hyers, Joe Venuti, Fredda Gibson, Gordon Gifford and two orchestras. And in Hollywood, from 8:50 until 9 o'clock, "The American Theater" presents Frederic March and Florence Eldridge in "The Gentleman

From Indiana" by Booth Tarkington.
"The Battle of Music," written by George Faulkner and di-rected by George Zachary, is based on the premise that every-body likes a good musical formula plus an idea. It acknowlthat one man's cadenzo is another man's cacophony. So, for Maestro Paige it's Bach versus Berlin in half an hour of vocal and instrumental music.

CONCERT—Lovely young Margaret Speaks, soprano star of the Monday Concert program, will sing "Kissing Time," by Strauss, as the vocal highlight of the regular broadcast of that program to be heard over WSB at 7:30 o'clock tonight. Miss Speaks will be assisted by the symphony orchestra of 70 members under the direction of Alfred Wallenstein.

The program includes: "Birth of Passion," by Hoschna.
"Every Little Movement." by Hoschna.
"Sally in Our Alley," by Carey (Margaret Speaks).
"March of the Toys," by Herbert (or-

Diamond Trade Hit

What course the diamond trade will take in view of changed conditions in Holland and Belgium is worrying the diamond interests of South Africa, it is reported at Johannesburg. The cutters in Amsterdam and Antwerp were beginning to see good business ahead when the picture was suddenly changed by military incursion from Germany. In the spring months the London market selling fewer rough stones in order to give dealers in Amsterdam and Antwerp ample time to prevent a fall in prices. The price level

> London Ready To Offer Terms on Hongkong, Burma Road.

SINGAPORE, Straits Settle-ments, July 15. (Monday)—The acting Governor of Malaya, S. W. Jones, disclosed in a broadcast tonight that Great Britain is trying to bring peace between China and Japan and said the results of the attempt would be known soon.

"Believing that an honorable peace is the real desire of the Chinese and Japanese peoples," Jones said, "his majesty's govern-ment will go to the greatest length to avoid seconding and prolonging the war in the east, and will put forward every effort it can afford

BRITAIN PREPARED TO OFFER TERMS

LONDON, July 14 .- (AP)-Great Britain is prepared to offer con-cessions to Japan in Hongkong and over the Burma road in the hope of ending the Japanese-Chinese war, authoritative quarters suggested tonight.

Although the British were portraved as unwilling to forego treaty rights and industrial interests in the Far East, they were said to be interested in arranging a larger settlement to end the three-year-old conflict.

Nazis Demand Economic Aid In Costa Rica

Note Reported To Demand Release of Frozen Deposits.

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, July 14. (A)—Diplomatic sources said to-day that economic demands upon Costa Rica were contained in the recent German communication requesting that no action against Germany be taken at the Ameri-can ministers' conference in Havana July 20.

The German note was transmitted to four other Central American countries by Dr. Otto Reinebeck, German minister.

Besides observing that any action affecting Costa Rica's neutrality would be "disadvanta-geous," the German communica-tion was quoted as saying:

Aide to Duce Warns Against U. S. Blockade

Gayda Forecasts Europe Will Counter With Trade Reprisals.

ROME, July 14 .- (AP)-A Euroean economic lineup for reprisal against any American continental blockade was forecast today by Virginio Gayda, Facist editor who often reflects official opinion. Gayda's prediction was pub-lished in the newspaper Il Gior-nale d'Italia. Gayda laid sponsorship of an alleged blockade scheme to the United States, asserting that such a plan would "raise the problem of freedom of international trade which surely cannot find useful assistance in this grandiose com-mercial blockade of the Americas meditated at Washington."

(President Roosevelt has approved a report designed to establish the basis for pan-American economic unity through a broad program of centralizing exports of the western hemisphere through one or more agencies representing all countries.) He commented also that such plan contrasted with previous American policy of freedom of international trade. He defended Europe's autarchic development as having "honest national aims."

Old British Ladies Drop Knitting as Announcer Gives Vivid Details.

LONDON, July 14 .- (AP) -- Britons at home and safely out of bomb range today were given a blow-by-blow account of the air battle over the Strait of Dover with a convincingly explosive overtone of bomb bursts, engine roars and machinegun rattling.

The eyewitness-commentator reeled out the exciting details like an American football or prizefight broadcaster and his listeners cheered by the British successes; white-haired old ladies dropped their knitting and screamed with delight.

Charles Gardiner, the announcer on this program unique in the British Broadcasting Corporation, talked like this:

"They're letting bombs go now. . A miss. . . They haven't hit a ship yet. There's one German machine coming down. One of the crew is bailing out-ah, here come the Hurricanes.

Boy, oh boy, three Hurricanes are chasing three Messerschmitts -if you could see them.

Memory of Days of Stiff Collars, Tight Necks Brings Shudder.

What's become of the grand old-fashioned stiff collar, supposed to be attached—by hand to an equally old-fashioned stiffbosomed shirt? No, don't tell me. I don't want to know. It might

The stiff-bosomed shirt was donned by non-socialites—unfor-tunates who dress up about twice a winter—upon the insist-ance of their wives.

The victims swore they'd rather die of the seven-year itch than climb into those garments. In their heart of hearts they reveled in the opportunity. But they'd rather die of leprosy than

There were two schools of thought in re collars.

One held that a 15 1-2 shirt celled for a 15 1-2 collar. Its disciples betrayed total ignorance of the laws of physics. Be-cause an inner diameter surrounded by an outer diameter calls for—oh, well, you know what I'm trying to get at.

The engineers of any great motor company, which measures parts by the ten-thousandths of an inch, or pretend to, would admit that a cylinder would not admit a piston of its own diamcter. Precisely, I mean. There must be that one ten-thousandth of an inch difference. My person-al car, I think, has a clearance of about an eighth, but maybe that's because a woman driver never thinks of oil or anything but gasoline. Remember, I said "maybe."

There are—or were—other sartorial experts who clung to the theory that a 15 1-2 shirt deserved a 16 collar. It is true that after a time the collar makers put them out in quarter-sizes, but our haberdasher was conservative. It was a half-inch or nothing with him. Both schools of thought were Gymnastic Problem.

Fitting a tall stiff collar to a shirt of the same diameter involved a wrestling match. A stranger, peering into an open door, would think the fellow in the black pants and a white shirt was engaged in shadow

The ensemble demanded two collar buttons. A short one to be inserted in the back of the shirt after the inserter had broken two thumb nails and a nail file trying to (1) find the button hole, and (2) attempting to separate it from the heavily starched department which prevented the button from coming into contact with the neck and leaving a green spot there. That feat accomplished, it re-mained only to bring the two ends of said collar around to the front and append them longer collar button which al-ready had been inserted in collar band of said shirt. See dia-

A scientist, of course, might solve the problem in a trice. Or two trices, to be conservative. A blacksmith, ready to fit an iron tire upon a buggy wheel, would heat the tire upon a mass of red-hot coals. It would expand. It ould admit the wheel. It would be plunged into a tub of cold water. It would shrink. It would stick until it was worn thin. But there are insuperable obstacles in the case of a collar. Place a collar on a bed of hot coals and it would ignite and vanish,

AND THIS IS RESULT Year after toilsome year it took nature to erect the rich stand of timber that once soared on this fireravaged acreage. Look at it now, completely despoiled by the mocking flames. And all this wealth, this beauty, might have been saved by a bit of care instead of carelessness.

Slayton said that Hull, while a member of congress, voted for the 18th amendment and that in the 1932 Democratic convention "he led the dry forces in fighting the repeal plank which was eventually inserted in the party play

Now that the forest blazes have been spotted, forestry men NO TIME TO LOSE hurriedly load shovels, hose, and other fire-fighting equipment aboard their mules. There must be not an instant's delay, they know, for once it gains headway, a fire's appetite for valuable timber is insatiable, causing great losses.

PORTABLE POWER PUMPS are used to feed water into the fire area, a great improvement over methods of the old days. Despite this great advance in forest f ire-fighting technique, however, these great blazes of the outdoors still cause damages to forest lands amounting to staggering sums.
